Comfort Series Transfer Seat Base

New from B&D

Passive Interlock System

The B&D Independence Passive Interlock System, designed with your safety in mind, is standard on all Comfort Series Transfer Seat Bases.

This system not only prevents accidental movement of the Transfer Seat Base while the vehicle is in operation, but also provides a range of crash-tested positions known as the "Comfort Zone." The Comfort Zone offers flexibility in arranging your Transfer Seat Base while maintaining the safety you've come to expect from B&D Independence.

If an emergency arises, the override switch located on the interlock module will bypass all safety features and allow the Transfer Seat Base to move with the vehicle running.

NEW FROM B&D INDEPENDENCE! The 6-way Comfort Series Transfer Seat Base can be installed for driver and passenger alike and keeps the second row of seating completely open. The improved design allows the Transfer Seat Base to be driven in any up/down position and up to 4" back from the full forward position. This new feature allows each user to select the unique and personalized driving position that is right for them. This addition to the B&D family of products is made for comfort and designed for you!
